“ Hi, Rosemary,
I had a dream about you last week. You were in a different bar and Barb (the daytime bartender at Dick's) brought me to you. You said that Barb never should have lied about your death, but you liked the new bar much better anyway. You had a folded-up toilet seat cover in front of you on the bar and said they were giving away free lobster bibs in the ladies room, so you took one. We all miss you, Rosemary. And then some. Rest in peace.

“ Rosemary was such a good person and friend. She was also a jewelry maker and I have several of her pieces I will wear to remember her. Always a great pal at Dick's and at Comfest. Rest in peace.

“ I worked with Rosemary at the library in the 1990s. She had a calming, steady presence and a dry sense of humor which I appreciated. I have only good memories of her and of the time we spent together.

“ Rosemary made a point of befriending the new day bartender at Dick's and we remained fast friends ever since. So much fun, her dry subtle wit,her generosity, I am lucky to have so many good memories of our times together. Thank you Rosemary for all you brought to my life.

“ My first memory of Rosemary was sitting beside her on a stool at Dick's Den and getting to know her gentle soul. The last time I saw her was at Dick's Den sitting on a stool...how appropriate.
